

MAKING FINE PROGRESS

Women Workers Directed By Mrs. Athleen McRae Are Canvassing For War Chest

Technically the splendid piece of house to house canvassing for the War Chest being done in Rockland cannot be credited to that fine public spirited group of women who form The Neighborhood Plan Group, because under C. D. rules they are not allowed to accept money, but it just so happens that the loyal workers in the field under general chairmanship of Mrs. Athleen McRae have very largely worked before on the worthy causes supported by the Neighborhood Plan Women. 'Nuff sed.

Herewith are the seven ward groups who are making excellent progress on their big task.

Ward 1, Mrs. Nettie Frost—Workers: Mesdames Louis Cates, George Emerson, Ralph Norton, Myra Watts, Loretta Brooks, Donald Cummings, Thomas Fleming, Wesley Knight, Clara Curtis, Herbert Thomas, Alva Gregory, Blanche Shadie, Mary Luizza, Arthur Brewer and Misses Irma Mather and Marion Passalacqua.

Ward 2, Miss Ruth Rogers—Workers: Mesdames Alice Jameson, Ethel Colburn, Marion Lake, Mildred Crie, Laura Maxcy, Ruth Albee Evelyn Crockett, Emma Hill, Ruth Fogelman, Dorothy Richardson, Roger Jameson I. M. Wotton, Ruth Campbell and John Blethen.

Ward 3, Mrs. Earl Perry—Workers: Mesdames Edwin Scarlott, Crosby French, Eugene Stoddard, Allan Murray, Elmo Crozier, Erwin Spear, Alan Grossman, Archie Bowley, Murray Whalen John McLoon, K. A. Rice Austin Nelson Irma Anderson and Raymond Moulaison.

Ward 4, Mrs. Clemice Preston—Workers, Mesdames Alma Stinson, Lena Stone, Jennie Pietroski, Donald Haskell, Ivy Brackett, John Beaton, Clarence Haraden, Grover Hopkins, Laton Jackson Kenneth Kuhn and Misses Betty Dority and Ruth Harrington.

Ward 5, Mrs. Inez Ames—Workers, Mesdames, Mabel Colson, Almon Young, Frank Prescott Ansel Saunders, Mildred Achorn, George Dean, Karl O'Brien and Lloyd Jameson.

Ward 6, Mrs. Velzora Plourd—Workers, Misses, Ann Escorsio and Virginia Witham and Mesdames Florence Duntion, Arlene Kinney, Austin Kinney, Zook, Viva Jameson Virginia Barton, Alzada Bars-tow, Herman Winchenbaugh, Russell Stewart, Mary Young, Kathleen Blackman, Louise Salminen, Ruth Small.

Ward 7, Mrs. Reita Holden—Workers, Mesdames Jalo Ranta, C. S. Roberts, Eugene Sleeper, Arthur S. Roberts, Eugene Sleeper, Arthur Laforgia, Lawrence Peterson, Edward Baxter, Simon Hamalainen and Miss Ida Cushing.

Miss Mary Wotton of Rockland has just been elected president of the junior class at The Fisher School for Secretaries at Boston. Friends of Miss Wotton will be interested to know of her achievement.

A Renowned Preacher

Rev. Charles F. Weigle

Dr. Charles F. Weigle of Florida is a renowned preacher and evangelist as well as author and song writer. One of his best known and loved hymns is "No One Ever Cared For Me Like Jesus." Among the books that have come from his pen are the following: "Quit Worrying," "Heaven, a Better Country," "One Besetting Sin," "Listen Fellows," "Loston Girls," "Adventures of an Evangelist."

Dr. Weigle will be speaking in the First Baptist Church Sunday, at 7.30 p. m.

The meeting is sponsored by the New England Fellowship of Boston and the co-operating churches in this community. The chairman of the local committee is Rev. J. Charles MacDonald. The public is invited.

Ralph Hunt of Hope was elected president of the Knox County Poultry Improvement Association at the recent meeting in Warren at the home of H. A. Emmons. Alfred Hawes of Union was elected vice president and Mrs. Lester Shibles of Rockport secretary. Mr. Hunt attended the meeting of the directors of the State Association in Hallowell. The Knox County Association will meet Nov. 30 at the home of R. C. Wentworth, in Hope.

Told of Plight In Which Poultrymen and Dairymen Are Placed

The plight in which Knox County farmers, particularly the poultrymen and dairymen find themselves was graphically stressed by County Agent Ralph C. Wentworth in a talk before the Rockland Lions Club. He emphasized that they are much worse off than they were in 1942, and the outlook for the coming year is far from reassuring.

This admittedly pessimistic view did not, however, relate to the Summer's outcome of the Victory garden effort, and in discussing that topic Wentworth gave due praise to the 4-H members. The canning effort was doubled and its value will be far in excess of $1328 represented by last year's effort. Last year the 48 chick projects were valued at $3000; this year there were 97 projects. Garden projects which had a value of $2382 last year, increased from 143 to 253 and pig projects from 20 to 70.

Discussing the poultry situation Wentworth said the farmers had been up against it because of the grain shortage. The situation has improved to some extent, but now the farmers are not getting any corn. The grain price of last year was $56 a ton and has been increased to $69 a ton. Egg prices have increased from 50 to 57 cents but the cost of production has increased much faster. The price of fowl has increased from 21 cents a pound to 25 cents, and the price of broilers from 23 cents to 29 cents, though the buyers are paying only 23 cents just now.

The poultrymen are sore at the Government which has asked them to produce more meat and eggs, and have provided conditions which necessitate a reduction, instead. Poultry, meat and eggs will be scarcer the coming year, the speaker predicted.

COURT WILL ADJOURN TODAY

Traverse Jury Was On "Tap" Only a Few Hours—The Criminal Docket

The November term of Knox County Superior Court was on its way out when The Courier-Gazette went to press, with every indication that it would finally adjourn during the day. Tonight at the Elks Home the Knox Bar will tender a banquet to Justice Beliveau. The traverse jurors were discharged yesterday afternoon only a few hours after being impanelled.

The criminal docket was called Wednesday morning and the following respondents were sentenced:

Stanley Cates, of Rockland, intoxication, 90 days in jail.

Chester Allen, South Thomaston, intoxication, fine $10 and costs $3.20.

Harland Davis of Cushing, assault and battery, filed upon payment of costs.

Chester McDonald of Camden, larceny, filed upon payment of costs.

Thomas Young, Matinicus, taking car without consent of owner, six months in jail.

Rene Hamel, Lewiston, forgery, 11 months in jail.

Leslie A. Thompson of Spruce Head was fined $10 and costs for intoxication. Two cases against this respondent which had been filed were brought forward and Thompson paid a fine of $10 and costs on each case.

Clifton L. Simpons of Rockland, another fly in the poultrymen's ointment. The dairymen are not quite so badly fixed, although the grain situation is the same.

Now that the cows are in the barn production is expected to drop, and it is very likely that milk will be rationed. Subsidy relief will be given during the next three months and may continue longer.

"Orchardists," said Wentworth, "are in fairly good shape, and if coal and grain can be guaranteed there is no question but that poultrymen will double their production."

Deputy Sheriff Harry Edgcomb of Appleton was the guest of Registrar of Probate Willis R. Vinal.

was sentenced to jail for ten days for intoxication.

Armas Ryttyk of St. George, was sentenced to ten days in jail for intoxication.

Clyde Grotton of Rockland was sentenced to 30 days in jail for intoxication.

Jennie Long of Rockland paid a fine of $10 and costs for intoxication.

Stanley Cates of Rockland, intoxication, 90 days in jail.

Charles R. Belyea of Rockland was placed on probation for two years on a charge of larceny.

Fred L. Duplsey of Bristol paid a fine of $100 and costs on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under influence of intoxicating liquor.

Percy Colson, Arthur Cayton, Harold Chaples and Ernest Wooster of Rockland pleaded guilty to larceny and were sentenced each to serve six months in jail.

Joseph LeBlanc alias Joseph Spear of Union was continued for sentence on a breaking, entering and larceny charge.

Douglas Lewis of Boothbay was continued for sentence on a larceny charge.

Perry McEdwards of Union pleaded guilty to larceny and was continued for sentence.

Prescott A. Creelman of Thomaston, on a charge of attempting to escape from prison, was sentenced to one to two years, sentence to begin at expiration of sentence he is now serving.

Alton S. Gray of Rockland, sentenced to serve 30 days for intoxication.

J. P. O'Sullivan of the Immigration and Naturalization Service at Boston was present in Court Thursday morning for the naturalization hearings. The following applicants were granted citizenship:

Saima Autio, Long Cove, native of Finland.

Almo John Sulin, 28 Pine street, Rockland, native of Finland.

Emilio S. Hary, former member of the Rockland Postoffice staff, whose present address is 507th Army Postal Unit, A.P.O. 507, care of Postmaster, N. Y., sends me a bundle of newspapers and magazines, showing what our boys are reading across the water. It goes without saying that "Stars and Stripes" tops the list, and I notice that much space was devoted to the World Series baseball games. Included also in the bundle was an old copy (Dec. 13, 1911) of the Daily Sketch, "the premier picture paper," and a magazine entitled "Transatlantic," price one shilling. Somehow I rather suspect that "Mil" had rather been reading the last issue of his old home paper The Courier-Gazette.

Interment was in the Catholic cemetery at Thomaston.

THINK GENTLY OF THE ERRING ONE

Think gently of the erring one, O let us not forget. However darkly stained by sin He is our brother yet!

Heir of the same inheritance, Child of the self-same God, He hath but stumbled in the path We have in weakness trod.

Speak gently to the erring ones, We yet may lead them back, With holy words and tones of love, From misery's thorny track.

Forget not, brother, thou hast sinned, And sinful yet may'st be; Deal gently with the erring heart, As God hath dealt with thee.

Book Review

(By K. S. F.)

"The Apostle." A novel based on the life of St. Paul. By Sholem Asch. Published by G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.

This story of St. Paul will make a place among the immortal stories of mankind just as his earlier novel "The Nazarene" has won a monumental place in history. With the scenes of the first Christian congregation assembling in the caves about Jerusalem, one is carried, with fear holding the heart beat, through tragic sympathy and pride in the glorious hold the Man of Galilean birth had.

This story of Paul opens seven weeks after the crucifixion of Christ. It blazes with glory in spite of the very slow growth of Christian fellowship and strength. The incident of the Damascus road, and Paul's conquered life is told with strength, dignity and richness. This novel is worthy of deep thinking and quiet, zestful reading for spiritual growth.

Sholem Asch has broad knowledge of Biblical lore and is ranked as a writer of literary masterpieces. This book should be read and digested by all Christians, and those who take no thought of the morrow, that they may have their eyes opened. The world owes much to "The Apostle Paul" and to this author. Kathleen S. Fuller

THE COURIER-GAZETTE

Twice-A-Week

Associate Editor, FRANK A. WINSLOW

Subscriptions $3.00 per year, payable in advance; single copies four cents. Advertising rates based upon circulation and very reasonable. The Rockland Gazette was established in 1848. In 1874 the Courier was established and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1865 and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 14, 1897.

[EDITORIAL]

WHY THE REPUBLICANS REJOICE

Republicans who have been week-kneed in their consideration of the party's chances of carrying the next Presidential election must have been greatly heartened by the results of last Tuesday's balloting which showed a Republican trend beyond the leaders' rosiest dreams. Under Roosevelt's first election the Republican party's holdings were reduced to two States, Maine and Vermont. In sharp contrast the G. O. P. is now in possession of 26 of the 48 Governorships, lacks only 14 members of controlling the House, and has made significant inroads in the Senate's heavy Democratic majority.

Tuesday the nation's gaze was focused upon New York and New Jersey. In the former State a last ditch fight was being waged for the Lieutenant-Governorship. The late Republican incumbent of that office had won a year ago by only 53,000, and jubilant Democrats foresaw an opportunity to regain control, but in this they were doomed to bitter disappointment, as Hanley, the Republican nominee, carried the State by 350,000, or 100,000 more than the plurality given Gov. Dewey in last year's election.

Two points stand out significantly in the New York election, one of them being the practical certainty that the Empire State's huge electoral vote will be cast for the next Republican candidate for the Presidency. In the event that Gov. Dewey should reconsider his oft-announced intention of not being a candidate he could resign the Governorship, and still leave the State in Republican control. If Dewey is given the Presidential nomination it apparently will be brought about in spite of his not lifting a hand, and would climax an amazing career.

The Republican victory in New Jersey is equally significant, for there the Democratic nominee had the backing of labor and Frank Hague, but Republicans flocked to the polls and by a majority of more than 120,000 voted to seat their candidate, Walter E. Edge.

But the most astonishing result of Tuesday's off-year elections was the snatching of Kentucky from the ranks of Democracy's "Solid South." Yesterday the Republican candidate for Governor was leading by nearly 6000 votes, and the precincts which had not been heard from are in nominally Republican territory. The last Republican Governor in Kentucky was elected in 1927. The complete Republican ticket appears to have been elected Tuesday.

Exciting national interest also was the mayoralty election in Philadelphia, where Acting Mayor Bernard Samuel, Republican, was opposed by former Ambassador William C. Bullitt, who was supported by President Roosevelt. Samuel's margin of victory was 63,000, as compared with a Republican victory of only 157 in last year's Governorship voting.

Republican leaders throughout the nation are jubilant over Tuesday's results, and rightfully so, while that shrewd Democrat, Jim Farley, was also right when he said that the American people are "still dissatisfied for any one of a number of reasons." What happened in the States above mentioned is quite apt to be repeated in the Presidential election one year from this month. The oft-repeated assertion that Roosevelt cannot be beaten if the war is still on is all bosh. If Roosevelt felt compelled to surround himself with Republicans, such as Stimson, Secretary of War, and Knox, Secretary of the Navy; a 100 percent Republican administration could certainly be entrusted with the duty of carrying on a war, which seems to be doing pretty well on its own hook, thank you.

SEWALL WILL NOT RUN AGAIN

We think Gov. Sumner Sewall has pursued absolutely the proper course in declining to be a candidate for a third term. When he retires at the end of another year it will be with the knowledge that the people have twice endorsed him by abnormal majorities, and with the satisfaction of knowing that his administrations thus far have given results that are highly recommended by the taxpayers. All of these things will be taken into account should Gov. Sewall later seek higher political preferment. That he could have won a third nomination and a third election is justly generally understood, but this has not dissuaded him from taking the course which his constituents will become convinced is a logical one.

PAPER SALVAGE

On Nov. 11, Armistice Day, the Boy Scouts of Rockland will make a waste paper salvage collection. All citizens should bundle their newspapers, brown paper, or magazines, tied firmly in lots of not over 25 pounds. Place them early Nov. 11 on your front porch. The Boy Scouts will do the rest.

Mr. and Mrs. David O. Knowlton have sold their place at Ingraham Hill and have bought and are occupying the Sidney O. Hurd property at South Thomaston. Their telephone number is 853-14. The Knowltons have sold their place to Robert Harvey of Ingraham's Hill, and the place where the Harveys live is shortly to be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Hudson, who reside at Owl's Head village.

W. Seymour Cameron, employed at Perry's Main street market, is on vacation.

Winslow-Holbrook Unit, American Legion Auxiliary, will meet Monday night. It is requested that all officers be present to make final plans for visit, Armistice Day, of the Department President, Mrs. Alice Gibson of Lewiston. A meeting of the Third District Council will be held in Bath Nov. 10 with luncheon at 12.30 p. m.

Wilbur A. Fogg of the Department of Justice, Border Patrol, who is stationed in Jackman came Wednesday for a few days' visit at his home.

The lack of enough nurses for the Armed Services continues to give anxiety. At 3 p. m. Nov. 11, there will be a meeting at the Chapter Red Cross Office, Rockland. We expect Miss Iva Torrens, Red Cross Nursing Representative. Registered nurses, and Red Cross members anxious about care of wounded ones, are urged to attend.

A Rockland visitor Tuesday was Marston Woodman, formerly of this city, who has been spending his vacation in Lincolnville. He was returning to his duties as launching master at the South Portland shipyard.

Mildred MacMillan, principal of the Pleasantdale School in West Orange, N. J., writes: "I look forward to the arrival of The Courier-Gazette each week. It brings a delightful message from Maine to me in my busy days here."

E. S. Carroll raised a 62-pound pumpkin this year at Warren. Should be some pies in that one, opines our Warren correspondent. And if Warren made them they should be powerful fine.

Funeral services for John Creighton, who died in Denver, will be held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at the residence of Miss Rita Smith, Thomaston.

John M. Richardson of this city has been appointed a member of the Knox County Rationing Board. Recently resigned are Walter C. Ladd, Elmer B. Crockett and Knott C. Rankin, all of Rockland.

Dr. Weisman will be in his Rockland office Saturday night and Sunday.

Women representing Rockland churches met at the Episcopal Undercroft Monday afternoon where plans were made for the organization of a Unity Study Group, meetings of which are to be held once a month for the purpose of studying the price of an enduring peace. Mrs. Keryn ap Rice was elected general chairman, with the following committee acting as chairman of their individual church groups: Mrs. Roy Welker, Congregational Church; Mrs. John S. Lowe, Universalist Church; Mrs. Alfred Hempstead, Methodist Church; Mrs. Knott Rankin, First Baptist Church; Miss Mabel Seavey, Littlefield Memorial Baptist Church; Mrs. Gilmore Soule, Episcopal Church; Mrs. Joseph Dondis, Synagogue. Mrs. William Ellingwood was elected treasurer and Mrs. Neil Perry, publicity chairman. Following the meeting tea was served by members of the Episcopal Church.

The building on Elm street occupied for many years by Knox Aerie of Eagles, and now vacant because the organization has relinquished its charter, has been bought by Nathan Berliawsky, who is converting it into a two-flat apartment house.

Superior Court justices who will preside in Knox County the coming year have been appointed as follows: February, Robert A. Cony of Augusta (his first term here); May, Active Retired Justice William H. Fisher of Augusta; November, Raymond Fellows of Bangor. In Lincoln County E. P. Murray of Bangor will preside at the May term and Arthur E. Sewall of York over the November term.

Rockland Farm Bureau will meet Wednesday at 1.30 p. m. with Mrs. Frank A. Kimball of 397 Old County road. The speaker of the afternoon will be Mrs. Theresa Anderson, R. N. of Augusta, who will talk on the subject, "Meeting the Shortage in Community Health Work." The public is invited.

Chapin Class will meet Tuesday at 6 o'clock in the Universalist vestry for a picnic supper. Coffee will be served. A large attendance is desired as there will be a business meeting and session of tacking quilt. The men are invited.

Samuel B. O'Brien, who conducted a store in the Rubenstein block, destroyed by fire Oct. 24, has reopened at 580 Main street, in the store formerly occupied by the late Fred M. French, barber.

The Kiwanis Club

Votes To Hold a Joint Meeting With Lions Club On Pearl Harbor Day

Alfred W. Perkins, actuary for the Employees' Retirement System of the State of Maine, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting at Hotel Rockland last night.

Mr. Perkins, who is also Insurance Commissioner for the State, gave a concise resume of the provisions of the retirement plan for State employees which became a law July 1, 1942, and which is available to municipalities. Provisions include half pay for employees with 35 years of service; retirement, if desired at 65 and compulsory retirement at 70.

A study of Rockland's 31 employees eligible for participating in the plan, showed that seven could retire if they wished. The City of Rockland could have the advantages of the plan by making annual payments of approximately $4033 for a period of 20 years and then this amount would be reduced to $1501 a year. Part of the funds to provide for retirement would come from the employee himself, while a little more than that would be contributed by the city. The plan includes a provision for total disability if the employee has been working for the city at least ten years.

H. Laton Jackson, chairman of the Kiwanis War Honor Roll committee, made a detailed report: Almon M. Young, chairman of the War Honor Roll maintenance committee, said that 150 names would be added to the roll shortly; Donald G. Cummings spoke on the War Chest Campaign and John M. Pomeroy, Knox County chairman for the War Chest Campaign, also spoke briefly.

President Richard P. Bird appointed the following War Chest committee: Dr. Edwin L. Scarlott, A. Alan Grossman, Robert M. Allen, Charles H. Berry, H. Pearl Studley and Dr. Lloyd M. Richardson.

Announcement was made of the ticket sale for "This is the Army," to be handled by President Bird. An invitation from the Lions Club for a joint meeting Dec. 7, to hear Senator Brewster, was read, the club voting to hold their regular meeting that week with the Lions Club.

Secretary Arthur F. Lamb read a letter from the Lions Club praising the Kiwanis Club for its work in connection with the War Honor Roll, and an interesting letter from Dr. Wesley N. Wassgatt.

Christian Eckhoff, a member of the Kiwanis Club of Greenfield, Mass., was introduced by James F. Brown and guests present were J. A. P. Flynn, arson specialist of the state insurance department, and Norman C. Fitzpatrick of the fuel administration staff.

Blaise quieted Flame as a figure appeared in the path leading down from the railroad fill.

"Bo-Jo!" returned Blaise.

The half-breed's eyes roved over the heaped bags; and then he turned to Brassard. "You on survey?"

The thick muscles under Blaise's shirt tightened at the insolence of the other's manner. But his seemed face might have been carved from wood. "Ah-hah!" he said, easing a cloud of smoke from his mouth.

"My name is Joe Flambeau. I work for Jules Isadore!" announced the caller. "What your name?"

"I am Big Windigo from Devil Valley! I eat Nottaway Riviere man for supper!" The twinkle faded to a cold stare.

At the calculated affront the other sucked in his breath. "By gar! You eussint Joe Flambeau!" he choked. Then Flambeau's groping fingers found and closed on the bone handle of the knife under his coat.

"Don't pull that knife!" Brassard's voice was as brittle as shell ice. But his thick right hand did not move from the pipe in his teeth. "Look bein' you!" he said.

Flambeau turned his head. Feet bunched under him, the big air-dale crouched like a panther, his eyes watching Blaise for the signal to leap.

"You pull dat knife and dat dog land on your back and rip your t'roat!"

Flambeau's hand moved away from his knife handle. "I don't come here for trouble!" he said weakly. "I talk business wid you."

"Forget wat I say!" appeased Blaise. "I don't mean nothin'. Wat you want, Flambeau?"

"W'y you take Nottaway trail to de rivier?"

"We survey lower riviere."

Flambeau surprised Blaise with: "Dese engineer pay you small money. I get you job wid big money."

"Who wid?"

"Isadore! You are stout man. Isadore pay big money for strong man on de rivier."

It was growing interesting. Blaise took the bait. "Ah-hah! Wat you pay?"

"Double w'at you get! Leave dose men and dey will not make survey alone."

Blaise threw back his head and laughed. "You notice dat redhead?"

"Ah-hah!"

"He is Injun in white water! Finlay will run anyting. Dey go to de bay widout me."

Flambeau scowled. "Batoche will talk wid me at daylight, here."

"Ah-hah!"

"Isadore give you big pay. Shake hand!"

Blaise rose and extended a thick paw. Then he deliberately tossed his bombshell. "W'y do Isadore watch de Nottaway like a fox watch a rabbit run? He strike gold on Waswanipi?"

Flambeau's jaw sagged as he stared at the cryptic face of the speaker. "Mebbe he got gold! Mebbe! You come wid us and fin' out! I see you at daylight."

Shortly Finlay and Malone joined Blaise at the camp on the shore.

"This dump is sure stumped!" snorted the giant, filling and lighting his pipe. "Can't get a soul to talk! From the way they shut up you'd think the bush north of here was full of cockeyed, man-eating Windigo!"

"Who'd you talk with?" asked Finlay.

"Cotter the storekeeper's as scared as a fox in deep snow with a lynx on his trail. The rest are the same way. You see McLeod?"

"Yes. I showed him the last line of the letter sent to the family and asked if he recognized the writing. By the look in his wife's face I believe he wrote it himself."

"Let's see that letter, again, Garry! When Cotter asked me to register, I saw in his book some writing on a loose sheet signed by McLeod."

Finlay handed Malone the letter he carried in his wallet and the latter read aloud:

"To the family of Robert Finlay, North Bay, Ontario:

"Last spring Robert Finlay and his partner, Andrew Troup, left Nottaway bound for the Chibougamau gold country by way of the Waswanipi River. In the fall it was reported, here, that the Montagnais Indians had found their smashed canoe. This is the third party that has disappeared on the Chibougamau Trail in two years. There are people who have reasons why they don't want prospectors traveling Waswanipi water.

"I don't believe these six men were drowned."

"A Friend."

For some time Malone studied the letter. "Yes, it looks mighty like that writing of McLeod's I saw in Cotter's book," he said.

"McLeod wrote that letter, Red." Finlay repeated his conversation with the station agent and his wife. "But McLeod's tied up here and doesn't want trouble," he concluded. "Now whom does he suspect and why?"

"Do you suppose someone's made a placer strike on the river and is trying to hog it?"

"I sure do. It looks to me as if we had run into the coldest attempt to control wild country I've ever heard of." Garry turned to Brassard. "What do you think of it, Blaise?"

"I tink nodding. I got new job."

"Cut the funny stuff, Blaise!" grunted Red. "What's your dope on the situation?"

"I work for Isadore, now!" announced Blaise, his eyes snapping like an otter's. "I leave dis outfit in de mornin'." Then he described his meeting with Flambeau.

"Good!" laughed Garry. "They're certainly worried about us. What are you going to tell Batoche?"

"Wal, you see, I was hit on de head once. It leave me wid bad memory. I tell Batoche dere is some meesteake. I naverse talk wid Flambeau."

"And will that bird be wild?" chuckled Red. "Watch his right hand! Don't let him wing you."

Blaise inhaled until his chest resembled a barrel. He flexed his thick biceps and yawned. "I take good care dat fallar!" he said. Then he rose and his face sobered. "I like to have look at dis Isadore outfit on Waswanipi."

"Don't you realize that we've got to map the lower river?" demanded Garry. "What's the idea?"

"Tomorrow, I tink we get telegraph order from Ottawa to map Waswanipi Lake."

"You old fox! You've hit it!" cried Garry. "We'll give that telegram the air whether McLeod denies it or not. In the morning this city hears that we've been wired from headquarters to map Waswanipi. Will that be news?"

Red Malone affectionately shook Brassard by his thick shoulders. "Blaise, that's imagination! Let Batoche and Flambeau chew that over!"

Finlay rose. "I'm dropping in on those prospectors above here," he said, and left his friends.

"Hello, Mac!" greeted a voice as Finlay reached the tent above the bridge. "Sit down and light up!"

"Thanks, I will. Where you people heading?"

"Rouny way! Plenty gold in them quartz veins if you can locate 'em!"

"Well, anyway, I'm grateful for your kindness. But as our job is to re-map the lower Nottaway, I don't expect to have the pleasure of meeting Mr. Isadore. Good night!"

In the small bedroom at Cotter's Finlay found Malone and told him the story.

"Don't think we're surveyors, eh? Want to warn us off the Chibougamau Trail! Looks more and more, chief, as if that letter was right!"

"Yes, Red, that letter was right!"

"They've been through our bags," whispered Malone.

"Good! I rigged one up especially for our friend Batoche, maps, survey notes, tools and all, right on top."

Shortly Red Malone was filling the room with gargantuan snores but Garry Finlay could not sleep. Later he heard the cautious tread of moccasined feet on the creaking stairway and someone entered the room adjoining. There was whispered conversation, that was inaudible, then, head against the partition of matched boards, he heard:

"Oua! Dey sleep sound! Leesten!"

Finlay added his own snore to Malone's rhythmic blasts. The two men in the next room seemed assured.

"Ah-hah! Dey sleep hard!" one whispered.

There was the creak of bed springs and a grunt of disgust.

"Dat fallar who look like hawk wid his eye say he make map of de Nottaway. He lie. Dey take de Chibougamau Trail."

"Dey carry tool and map of engineer."

"Mebbe so. But I tink dey lie."

"Chibougamau! You tink dey hunt for gold. We offar dis Brassard big pay in de mornin' and get him drunk. Den we find out who dey are."

"If dey go to Waswanipi, Tete-Blanche show dem w'ere to find gold and bury dem in de hole."

"Ah-hah, Tete-Blanche and Tetu, dey show dem de trail to hell."

Shortly men in the next room slept, but Garry Finlay's brain was busy. Tete-Blanche! He's white-haired! And Tetu! What a pair of names! He'd not forget them. So these were the men who were blocking the Chibougamau Trail?

Finlay stretched out to get some needed rest but memories of the brother he had lost tormented him. "Bobbie! Bobbie!" he murmured. "If they got you, they'll pay! They'll pay to me!"

The annual silver tea of the Lincoln Home for the Aged will be held Nov. 11 at the home in New-castle. Donations may be left at the store of Weston and Mank.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sturrock of Eden Park, R. I., have been passing a few days with Mrs. Nellie Overlook. On return they were accompanied by Mrs. Overlook, who will pass the Winter with them.

Mrs. Gerald Dalton was a visitor Tuesday in Damariscotta.

"Your husband thinks they were."

"Yes. You're a stranger and can't understand! But this place is full of rumors and fear."

"Just what are they afraid of? Why don't they talk to the police?"

"The police were here last year, the Provincials. They only laughed at us."

Finlay was both annoyed and interested. Annoyed that a super-natural survey party should be suspected of being something else.

"It's mighty good of you, Mrs. MacDonald, to warn us," Finlay said, "but we happen to be government surveyors under orders—not prospectors. No one's going to be crazy enough to monkey with a survey party."

"I know, but Mrs. McLeod said tonight that one of those boys lost last year was your brother—that you were making inquiries."

So it was all over the place? He had talked too much to the McLeods. And yet it had been necessary to learn who wrote that letter.

"Mrs. MacDonald," Finlay suddenly asked, "who is it you're afraid of—Isadore?"

Finlay heard the sudden intake of her breath. "Oh, no! You're wrong there! We don't even know him! He's a fur man and generally flies to Waswanipi from down below."

"Well, anyway, I'm grateful for your kindness. But as our job is to re-map the lower Nottaway, I don't expect to have the pleasure of meeting Mr. Isadore. Good night!"

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly by using the discovery that the cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at once to loosen up thick, choking phlegm, and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passing with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

accompanying the remains were Dr. Carl Burdick, Miss LaBonte, Mrs. Harold Simon, Miss Katherine Potter, and Joseph Scott.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tuttle of Hope is at the home of Mrs. Caroline Hodgdon for the Winter.

Miss Elizabeth Genthing is recovering from a badly sprained wrist.

Miss Ellie McLaughlin spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Anna McLaughlin. Miss McLaughlin is a teacher in the public schools of Stamford, Conn.

Rev. George Riley of Haverhill, Mass., evangelist, will preach Sunday at 2:30 and at 7:30 at the Church of the Nazarene, North Waldoboro.

Mrs. Millicent Swift and family have moved to Rockport.

William Fitzgerald, a student at Wesleyan University, has been passing a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fitzgerald.

Pvt. Edwin Black, stationed at Texas, has been passing a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Black.

The Woman's Club met Tuesday afternoon at the Garden Club room. The roll call was responded to with quotations regarding Australia and New Zealand. Doughnuts, cider and cookies were served. Hostesses were Mrs. Sace Weston, Mrs. Rose Weston and Mrs. Elsie Mank.

Pisa Once Proudest of Italy's Medieval Cities

The Tower leans about 16½ feet off center, says the National Geographic society, and it is this accident of architecture that makes Pisa, a city of 72,500 inhabitants, known the world over. Except to historians, Pisa's real claim to fame—the fact that as a maritime city-state it was one of the powers of the western world from around 900 to 1400—has been obscured by the leaning belfry.

Out of the chaos of the Dark Ages, Pisa was the first Italian city to emerge. But for the Pisan navy, the Saracens might have conquered all of Italy. The Pisans halted them at Sicily, expelled them from Sardinia, Corsica and the mainland where they had made inroads. Engaging both militantly and commercially in the Crusades, the Pisans helped take Jerusalem while establishing banks, warehouses and consuls at every eastern port.

Genoa's rising power on the sea and Florence's growing might at its rear finally effected the downfall of Pisa. The proud city became a mere port for Florence after nearly a dozen ruinous wars on land and sea. During their heyday, the Pisans built the many architectural and cultural monuments still to be seen. Gone with the glory of Pisa are the 10,000 residential towers that made this metropolis of the Middle Ages the New York of Italy.

James Ewing returned home Friday from South Weymouth, Mass. after being guest of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ewing since Monday.

Seven members of the Woman's Club study unit met Thursday with Mrs. Alena Starrett. Papers were given by Mrs. Edna Overlook and Mrs. Starrett, following which a discussion was held. Paper assignments for the meeting, Nov. 18, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Jessie Walker, will be, "Notable Women of the U.S.A." by Mrs. Florence Kimball, and "Needed at Home: More Supplies and Better Officials," by Miss Frances Spear.

"A Business Proposition" will be the sermon topic Sunday morning at the Congregational Church. Rev. L. Clark French will speak Sunday night at a union service of both churches at the Baptist Church, his topic, "The Halo of Humble Tasks." Church school will meet at 9:30 a. m.

"Six Pillars of Peace" will be the sermon topic Sunday morning at the Baptist Church. Church School will meet at 12.

Mrs. Theresa Anderson, staff executive of the Maine Public Health Association will be speaker on "Communicable Diseases," next Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Pleasantville Farm Bureau at the home of Mrs. Maurice Davis.

Any one interested in hearing Mrs. Anderson's talk may do so even though they may not be members of the Farm Bureau.

Department President Ella Holston of Cumberland Mills will inspect the E. A. Starrett Auxiliary, S.U.V., at the meeting next Wednesday. Dinner will be served at noon. Officers are requested to

Ushant, Quaint Island

Ushant is westernmost of the islets off the coast of France. Its rocky headlands and offshore hazards, shrouded in fog much of the time, have brought grief for centuries to vessels failing to give the Brittany cape a wide enough berth.

Twelve miles from the French mainland and 25 airline miles west of the vital Nazi-held harbor of Brest, tiny Ushant has recognized military value. Its six square miles are quite flat. It guards the southern entrance to the English channel, just as the Scilly Islands, 120 miles northwest of Land's End, England, are Channel sentinels on the north.

Naval battles were fought off Ushant's shores in 1779 and 1794.

Waste Soap

Scores of women waste soap thoughtlessly every day by using too many flakes or chips in washing machines, in wash tubs and in dish pans. In reality, too thick a suds, especially in a washing machine, cuts down washing efficiency by making a "cushion" of lather that prevents the water from going through the fabric easily and quickly and carrying off dirt. For most effective laundering, only enough soap should be used to make a suds about two inches high. A good practice is to experiment and determine the amount needed to provide an efficient suds and then measure the chips or flakes instead of just "pouring" them into the tub or machine.

The Memory Man

Repeats Henry Duncan's Story Of How Sousa Stole His March

(By Tree Member)

During a delightful visit with us here at the Igloo a few weeks back, sister Carrie (Mrs. C. S. Parsons) told us many interesting things about North Haven and some of the dwellers thereon. Carrie has a wonderful memory. was born and reared on that beautiful island and can tell interesting incidents, who married whom, how old he is, how old she is, what this one and that does for a living and well Carrie knows about all that is worth knowing about North Haven. Here are a few of the things she told us.

Along about 1890 Owen Lermond, clarinet, Walter O'Brien, first violin and Mrs. O'Brien, second violin, played for most of the dances on the island. Next orchestra to take over was composed of Henry Duncan, first violin, Fred Packard, second violin and Ed Mills, organ. Henry "called" the dances. Duncan & Packard also taught many "dancing schools." Henry taught the steps and Packard played violin for the dancers. Some years later another dance band took over the dance work on the island. Francis Mills played piano, Foy Brown played cornet, Murray Stone "doubled" on clarinet and violin while Floyd Duncan doubled on violin and clarinet.

Nowadays dancers demand anywhere from 10 to 50 players else they feel that they are being cheated but in the days I am writing about a couple of fiddlers could play dance music that tickled the toes of the dancers, who, by the way, knew how to dance. They didn't turn flip-flops, stand on their heads, grab the girls by one ankle and throw them clear across the hall and catch them and throw them back again—and a dozen other crazy stunts that I have seen performed at some of the dances I have played for during the past few years. No, in those days the men didn't grab a girl by the neck with one hand and grab her ankle with the other, lift her and wind her about him just like a belt and then spin like a top until both were so dizzy they reeled and had hard work to keep on their feet!

No, people knew how to dance—once upon a time! Long long ago.

The late Henry Duncan was a great story teller. He was right up to the starting line with our "Uncle Eph" and here is a sample of his act as near as I can come to telling it—not just as Henry told it, of course, but as best I can. Said Henry:

Some years ago I had a strange experience in Boston. Sousa's band was playing there and I decided to run to "bean town" and attend the concert. I went to Rockland and made the trip on the Boston boat and landed at Rowe's wharf bright and early, and after stowing away a good breakfast in a lunchroom I looked the town over at my leisure. At noon I had another good feed and strolled onto Tremont street and after looking things over pretty thoroughly I decided I was tired enough to rest a little while.

I sat down on one of the benches lined along Tremont street watched the folks go by and was beginning to feel a bit sleepy when all of a sudden a right pretty march tune began to buzz around in my head and I began to whistle it. The more I whistled it the better I liked it and I must have whistled that tune a dozen or fifteen times before I noticed that there was a fellow with black whiskers settin' on the bench next to me and he had a pad of paper and a pencil and was writing like fury. I stopped whistling. He stopped writing. When I started whistling again, darned if he didn't start writing again. I watched him out of the corner of my eye but all he did was to sit there with his head cocked to one side—as though he was listening.

I got up and walked off a ways and set down on another bench and began to whistle my march again—I didn't want to forget it—and, by Jingo, when I looked around there was that black whiskered feller settin' on a bench next to mine! I changed benches again and, sure enough, he changed to a bench close to me. I made up my mind that if he was going to chase me all over Boston Common I might just as well stay where I was and finish my whistling.

Well, just as soon as I started whistling he started writing. I kept it up an' he kept it up for quite a spell but I tucked him out after awhile and he got up and hurried away, paper, pencil and all. Well, I had another good feed and went to the Sousa concert and when the curtain went up there was the band all seated and ready to play. They sure did look smart and slick as a button and then—by Crimus, who should walk out on the stage but that feller with the black whiskers

A Picture For A Good Purpose

The Army Emergency Relief Fund is expected to benefit heavily from the showing of the famous picture, "This Is The Army," which will be presented at Strand Theatre next Thursday night beginning at 8 o'clock. There will be a block of reserved seats in the orchestra circle, selling at $2.20 each, while the admission to other parts of the theatre will be $1.10. All of the proceeds go to the fund.

The picture is being sponsored by the Rockland Lions Club, which needs the co-operation of business men and the public at large—even as it will have the assistance of the hostesses of the Rockland Servicemen's Club.

The business district will be canvassed for what may be termed "donations," but merchants who respond will be provided with blocks of seats which they are entitled to use or sell. It will be scarcely necessary to remind Rockland citizens that they are not paying these fancy prices merely to see a motion picture; they are being provided with wholesome entertainment in addition to the knowledge of aiding a worthy cause.

What The Picture's Like
The time is 1917 and Uncle Sam is recruiting men throughout the land for World War I. In New York, a singer (Gertrude Nissen) is on a sound truck on Fifth Avenue stimulating enlistments, and on Broadway the Ziegfeld Follies, whose dancing star is Jerry Jones (George Murphy), is the toast of the town.

Jerry is soon drafted and meets up with Eddie Dibble (Charles Butterworth), a musician, and Maxie Twardofsky (George Tobias), an East Side fruit peddler at Camp Upton, Yaphank, Long Island. There, they are subjected to the withering army strictures of a top sergeant named McGhee (Alan Hale).

For the benefit of Army Emergency Relief, Major Davidson (Stanley Ridges), the commanding officer, sanctions a soldier show, with Jerry put in charge. The show is called "Yip, Yip, Yaphank." Jerry works hard on the production, which turns out to be a huge success when it opens on Broadway.

WINNING THE WAR

WINNING THE WAR IS ONE THING. Trying to do business is another, especially with so many things in demand that can't be purchased, many people use the word PATRIOTIC for a profit. Many others, use the Phrase Help win the War by selling us something, this is for a still larger PROFIT.

NEVERTHELESS, it is just plain COMMON-SENSE, that everyone in a LEGITIMATE business needs MERCHANDISE, and many things that are wanted, and could be used, and not now Manufactured, perhaps lies in your ATTIC, GARAGE, or BASEMENT, many of these things are very useful, and could now be used to a great Advantage.

ONLY recently in a BARN in Thomaston, I found and bought 3 COPPER HOT WATER COILS, they were doing no one any good. Not even the owner, though they are furnishing hot water for three families that are SHIPYARD workers.

IT seems now Just plain Home Sense, if you have things that you are not now using, you should be willing to sell them, somebody needs everything these times.

I am and will be in the Market to PURCHASE ALMOST ANYTHING, FOR CASH.

And will pay SUBSTANTIALLY, high PRICES for Good used furniture, ANTIQUES, GRAPE CARVED CHAIRS, MARBLE TOP TABLES, any kind of stoves and HEATERS, ELECTRIC WASHERS, MOTORS, ELECTRIC REFRIGERATORS, SEWING MACHINES, PIANOS AND RADIOS, ENTIRE CONTENTS OF HOUSES, late Model AUTOMOBILES, in fact almost anything but JUNK, and will buy a little of that.

YOU WILL HAVE MORE MONEY TO BUY BONDS WITH, if you sell me your things and this will help with the war, as well as YOURSELF, other than buying BONDS. No better investment can be made, THAN TO CONTACT ME if you have anything to sell, and BEFORE YOU SELL.

Why Money's Needed

To Continue Work Of Thomaston Motor Corps—Many Reasons

The question has been raised as to what possible expenses the Thomaston Motor Corps can have necessitating the raising of funds, since the ambulance has been paid for.

In the beginning it was expected that there would be enemy attacks on coastal towns, and the ambulance was bought primarily to take part in caring for any casualties there might be as a result of possible bombings. The members of the Corps were carefully trained in every detail for any emergency.

The ambulance is used for transporting blood for plasma to and from the hospitals. It has also been used for transporting surgical dressings and Red Cross supplies. The Motor Corps has assumed full responsibility for the cost of upkeep of the ambulance, which is no small amount, including gasoline, tires, insurance, garage rent, repairs oil and what not.

Then too, it may not have been understood locally that the members of the Corps are on call 24 hours around for any emergency that may arise. For instance, if any persons need ambulance service and are unable to pay the fee, the Corps is supposed to transport them to and from the hospital. Whenever there is a practice mobilization the ambulance is called out, and the Motor Corps must have the funds in hand at all times so that the ambulance will be properly equipped for any required service.

The Thomaston Motor Corps has always enjoyed the closest co-operation of the townspeople and hopes to carry on the work that they have built up.

Miss Marilyn L. Cripps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cripps of Camden, became the bride of Ensign J. Alvin Fisher USNR, son of Mrs. Ethel Fisher Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Congregational Church.

Standing before the altar in the beautiful chancel the impressive double ring service was read by Rev. L. Winfield Witham, pastor of the church. Before the ceremony Mrs. Wentworth, the church organist, was at the organ console. The bride's only attendant was Miss Katherine Turner of Burlington, and the groom's best man was Ensign Arthur Carver USNR of Northport, a classmate of the groom at the Maine Maritime Academy.

The bride wore an afternoon dress with draped bodice of white silk jersey and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. Her attendant wore blue crepe and her flowers were yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride is a graduate of Camden High School, class of 1943.

The groom was graduated from the Huntington School in Boston and from the Maine Maritime Academy class of 1943.

The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for a ten-day trip following which they will go to Boston where the groom will sign up as an officer in the Merchant Marine Service.

The best wishes of a host of friends follow these popular young newlyweds.

GASSY BLOAT BELOW THE BELT?

Floating indigestion—the kind that makes you feel full of gassy bloated misery around and below the belt often arises as a result of a lax colony and a sluggish flow of intestinal secretions in the large bowel. This condition may retard prompt digestion of food, causing an excessive amount of gas that may press on the organs and reflect itself in many discomforting symptoms. For relief, try Espozol as directed. They help encourage the normal flow of intestinal secretions and help activate the colon to relieve itself—without upsetting the liver, causing nausea or the washed-out feeling that often follows the taking of violent flushing laxatives. In this way good old Espozol has been helping thousands of people for many years. Get a box of Espozol today and try them off at your druggist.

Salvage In Camden

Will Be Collected First Four Days Next Week Instead Of Armistice Day

The time for Camden's collection of paper, rags, and metals, originally planned for Armistice Day, is now scheduled for four days, with the town divided into four areas, one for each day. Salvage materials must be put out each morning by 8:30, in the area covered that day, and must be put beside the street curb, in front of the house, where they can be easily picked up.

What Is Wanted

Paper, if sorted and bundled securely (loose paper will not be accepted). Sort into separate bundles: (a) newspapers, (b) magazines, (c) cartons, cut up and flattened, and corrugated cardboard, (d) brown kraft or wrapping paper. The each bundle securely, preferably with heavy twine. Newspapers may be packed in cartons, but these must be tied.

Rags—especially white rags and woollens.

Heavy metal scrap—heavy cast iron, copper, lead, zinc, brass, aluminum, wire, batteries, radiators.

Not Wanted In Drive

Tin cans—tin cans are to be saved, and will be collected in the near future at a date to be announced. Do not turn them in during the Nov. 8 to 11 drive, as these are not handled through the scrap dealers.

Rubber—not wanted in the present drive.

Light metals, such as sheet iron, pots and pans, bedsteads, auto fenders, etc., are not wanted at present.

Collections are scheduled as follows for the different sections of Camden. All salvage materials must be placed beside the curb, next to the street, by 8:30 in the morning.

Monday—Knowlton street, Washington street to and including Grove street, Mountain street (from Monument to Grove street), Harbor Hill, Megunticook street, High street from the Monument to and including Harden avenue. Also all cross streets in this section: Spring, Trim, Alden, Cross, Collins.

Tuesday—Mechanic street to Oak, Pearl street to Oak, Elm, Union, and the following cross streets: Park, Oak, Harrison, Maple, Spruce, Willow, Norwood avenue, Free.

Wednesday—Bay View street to Penobscot avenue, Chestnut street to Penobscot Avenue, Limerock street, Belmont avenue, and the following cross streets: Wood street, Union Place, Pleasant street, Whitmore avenue, Brookside avenue, Jacobs avenue, Colcord, Virginia, Bonnie Brae, Highland, Chestnut Hill, Cedar, Bay road.

Thursday, Armistice Day—Atlantic avenue, Sea street, High street, Rawson avenue, Millville section, and any other streets not covered on previous days.

In Case It Rains

If it should rain on any of the above days, the collection for that particular area will be postponed until Armistice Day. In case of rain, all who can possibly do so, are urged to take their salvage materials to the Brick street, Knowlton street, before Thursday, Nov. 11.

Once when Professor Rudolf Virchano, famous German scientist, took Bismarck severely to task for his ineptitude in certain political transactions, the Iron Chancellor challenged the great savant to a duel.

"I suppose," said the scientist to Bismarck's seconds, "that since I am the challenged party I have the choice of weapons. Tell your principal that we will fight with these." And he held up two large sausages which looked exactly alike.

"One of these," he explained, "is infected with the deadly germs of trichinosis, the other is perfectly sound. Let His Excellency eat one while I eat the other. And tell him he may have his choice."

There was no duel.

The D. A. R. Meeting

Mrs. A. G. Hempstead Was Guest Speaker At Monday's Session

Twenty-two members of Lady Knox Chapter, D.A.R., met at the home of Mrs. Walter C. Ladd for the November meeting. The regent, Mrs. Charles Merritt, Mrs. Ella Stoddard, Mrs. Anne Snow, and Miss Ellen Cochran, who attended the Fall conference in Gardiner, gave interesting accounts; 115 were registered, representing 31 Maine Chapters. The vice regent, Mrs. Leroy Hussey, of Augusta, said two things should be striven for this year: 1. Stress war work. 2. Send reports in promptly to State officers.

The State registrar offered a prize of $2 to the Chapter obtaining the largest membership on a percentage basis. Another contest spoken of is: "Place Names." Members send in lists of bridges, counties, etc., and tell from whence they derived their names; prizes of $5, $3, and $2 will be awarded.

Opportunity Farm for Boys, New Gloucester, Maine, a special project, along with that of Montpelier, in Thomaston claimed 1500 quarts of fruits and vegetables, and raised some 900 heads of cabbage, and had 500 cans of produce put up at a nearby cannery.

The hostess for the Spring conference will be Mrs. Alice (Robbins) Richards, formerly of Rockland, now regent of the Waterville D.A.R. Chapter.

Mrs. William Pouch, president general of the National Society, D.A.R., told of visiting the W.A.C.S. at Des Moines, Iowa, and of living for a day and night just as the girls do—that is, of sleeping in a double-tier bunk, eating at a cafeteria, making own bed, washing dishes, and riding in a jeep. Referring to the men and women in the armed forces, she said: "Because of their vision we can put our faith in these young people in the service of our country." Mrs. Pouch was presented with a gift from the Maine State Chapter, D.A.R.

Mrs. Alfred Hempstead, guest speaker, chose for her subject, "The Monuments of Paris," wallpaper in the Deacon Darling house in Bucksport, Maine. This house was built about 1817, and in it in 1867 was celebrated the first owner's golden wedding, and here he died in 1873. There are only 14 known copies of this particular design of wallpaper, which is registered in Paris. Although placed on the wall of this particular house about 128 years ago, it preserves its brilliance of coloring to this day. Papers of this type were made of pure linen rags, in individual sections, each wrapped in tinfoil to protect it from seawater and dampness while being transported from France to American seaport towns. This lot of paper was sold in France for 50 francs, about $10. In 1920 a copy of this Monuments of Paris design sold in New York for $2500. The house is used as a Summer home by a great-grandson of Deacon Darling.

The sum of $11 and several articles were donated by Lady Knox Chapter for the boys of Opportunity Farm for Christmas this year.

Assisting hostesses were Mesdames Winifred Proctor, Eva Wisner, Adele Bird, and Misses Cora Perry and Edith Bicknell. Refreshments were served.

GUY MAYNARD JOHNSON

The community was saddened by the sudden death of ex-Alderman Guy Maynard Johnson, which occurred Oct. 26. A well known and highly respected resident of Rockland for 15 years he had only recently moved to Washington, Me.

Mr. Johnson was born in Vinalhaven, Nov. 8, 1888, son of Bert Johnson and the late Maud Emmens.

He was a Veteran of World War I and for the past year he had been employed at the Camden Shipyard.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Bertha Stevens Johnson; a daughter, Mrs. Maude Rogalski of Biddeford; two grandchildren, Frederic and Linda Lee Rogalski; two brothers, Oscar Johnson, Vinalhaven; Roy Johnson, North Berwick.

Services were at the residence Friday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Nutter of Washington officiating. Full military services were held at the grave by soldiers stationed at Camden. Interment was at Washington.

Washington And You

By Margaret Chase Smith

Washington, Nov. 3 — Richard B. Kennan, Executive Secretary of the Maine Teachers' Association has written me that he thinks H. R. 3206, the Norton bill, federalizes the program for child care and the before and after care of school children, and by-passes the regular channels of public education. He thinks it a dangerous bill and asks me to oppose it. He believes that S. 1130, the Thomas (Utah) bill, is a good proposal to cover child care in war areas.

He also favors S. 637 and H. R. 2849, which authorizes $300,000,000 to assist states to meet emergencies in financing public schools and to more nearly equalize educational opportunities among the states. Maine's share would be approximately $2,100,000. Mr. Kennan thinks that these bills do not give control of local education to the Federal government, a point which both he and I agree is very important. He says there is a critical situation facing our schools, that there are at least 5000 children in Maine who do not have properly qualified teachers, and about 1800 of this group do not have any teachers at all. Passage of S. 637 and H. R. 2849 would help to give the boys and girls of this generation the opportunities for education that every American child is entitled to, he says.

I am making a very careful study of these various bills. As we hold hearings in the congested areas of Seattle, Portland and Los Angeles, I inquire about school conditions, and ask witnesses what, if any, they consider proper Federal aid for education, especially in the post-war period.

An interesting letter has come from a farm constituent against rationing of milk on the basis of previous family consumption. She says sales of fluid milk should not be restricted unless we have actual rationing to insure adequate milk for all children and for convalescents who also need it. She says there are no food values in butter and cream that are not also in whole milk, and actually there is much in whole milk which is not in butter or cream.

There is justification for maintaining production of cheese and dried milk for shipping, she says, but none for insisting on butter.

CHURCHES

The United Episcopal Parish of St. Peter, John and George, Rev. E. O. Kenyon, rector services for the twentieth Sunday after Trinity will be: Holy Eucharist and sermon at 9:30. Church School at 11 a. m. Rev. Canon Pressey of St. Luke's Cathedral will be the Officiant.

Rev. Charles A. Marsteller, pastor of the Littlefield Memorial Baptist Church, will use as the text for the sermon at 10:30 "A Humble Heart and a Helping Hand." Special music will include a selection by the choir. Sunday School follows at 11:45 with classes for all ages. Young People's meeting is at 6 o'clock with Marion Bartlett as leader. The last half hour is devoted to the study of the Bible. At 7:15 the pastor will speak on "Great Lessons from a Little Man." Special music will be provided. The World Wide Guild meets with Nancy Gregory, Glen Cove, Monday night. Mid-week prayer meeting Thursday night at 7:30. Wednesday night the Ladies Aid meets in the vestry.

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon that will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Nov. 7. The Golden Text is: "Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?" (Isaiah 2:22). Among the citations from the Bible are the following passages: "Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin: for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God." (John 3:9).

"Christian at the Crossroads" will be the subject of the sermon by Rev. Roy A. Welker, the pastor, at 10:45 a. m. at the Congregational Church. Church School convenes at 10 a. m.; Beginners and Priand cream to such an extent that sales of whole milk are to be restricted, allowing dealers and grocers to distribute their quotas to whole milk as they choose. In this connection I have received a letter from the mother of a service man abroad who says that he writes her about the bad butter they get. Something is put in to preserve it, he says, and it is so bad when the boys get it that they throw it away—they would rather have preserves or jam on their bread. I have taken this up with the Quartermaster Corps of the Army. It may be that this is the dehydrated butter which is perfectly wholesome, but has a different taste and "feel," but it will not melt or spoil in tropic heat.

At The High School

By The Pupils

National Art Week was observed in Mr. Smith's homeroom by an exhibition throughout the week of a collection of color prints of both modern and old masters. Malcolm Shapiro contributed two attractive water colors—one, a gay bouquet of Autumn flowers; the other, three brightly plumaged South American parrots.

Try-outs for the cast of "Night of January 16th," the Senior Class Play, were held Monday and Tuesday evenings. Twenty-five students were selected and parts were tentatively assigned. Mr. Smith, the dramatics director, announced the appointment of Christine Newhall as business manager and of Albert Hallows as stage manager.

The Senior High Librarians' Club repeated its Open Discussion program for Junior High assembly, Wednesday morning. This type of assembly proved to be both instructive and entertaining. The students in the seventh and eighth grades had the opportunity to learn a good deal about the way in which the library is conducted and also the many ways in which they could find amusement and entertainment there. The group was introduced by Mrs. Pitts, who is the faculty sponsor. She prefaced her remarks with a bit of witicism which always pleases the boys and girls. Jean Young led the devotions and the salute to the Flag. A piano solo, "The Warrior," played by Paul Halligan, was very much enjoyed. Paul is a favorite on any musical program and gives of his services generously to his school. Louise Connolly, a senior, urged the students to buy more War Bonds and Stamps. Mrs. Jilson accompanied the assembly in the singing of "God Bless America."

Cheer leaders for this year are Mary Lou Duff, Pauline Havener, Joan Look, Norma Ramsdell and provide special music. Mr. MacDonald will preach on "The Covered Wagon." The young people especially invite all newcomers to a time of singing and fellowship after the evening service in the vestry.

At the Pratt Memorial Methodist Church the pastor, Rev. A. G. Hempstead, will preach at the 10:45 a. m. and 7 p. m. services. The Nursery Class will meet at 10:45 a. m., the church school will meet at noon and the Youth Fellowship will be led by Kingsley Strout at 6 o'clock. The Boy Scouts will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. Prayer meeting will be held Tuesday at 7:30. The Baraca Class will meet at the church Wednesday evening. The annual chicken pie supper will be served Thursday at 7 o'clock.

At the Nazarene Church, Maverick Square, services Sunday will be as usual. Church school at 2 p. m., afternoon worship at 3 o'clock, and Young People's meeting at 6:30, followed by the evening evangelistic service at 7:30. Rev. Curtis Stanley will preach and special music will be provided.

At the Universalist Church, Union street, next to the Court House, Sunday morning worship will be at 10:40 a. m. Dr. Lowe will preach on "The Laws of God and the Ways of Man." Soloist, Miss Lotte McLaughlin. The nursery and primary departments of the Church School for Children, three to seven years, meets during the church service. The church school for all other classes comes at 12 o'clock. The Y.P.C.U. Universalist youth fellowship meeting takes place in the vestry at 7 p. m.

To Promptly Relieve Coughing and Make Breathing Easier
At the first signs which may warn of a cold—the Dionne Quintuplets' chests, throats and backs are rubbed with Musterole—a product made especially to promptly relieve coughs and sore throat due to colds, to make breathing easier and break up local congestion in the upper bronchial tract.
Musterole brings such wonderful relief because it's MORE than just an ordinary "salve." It's what so many Doctors and Nurses call a modern counter-irritant. Since Musterole is used on the Quints—you can be sure it's just about the BEST cold-relief you can buy!
IN 3 STRENGTHS: Children's Mild Musterole for children and people with tender skin; Regular for ordinary cases and Extra Strong for stubborn cases.

DRESS MODEL RISES. Elaine Riley's beauty established her as a Powers and Hattie Carnegie model, while her brains were amply demonstrated later when she became personnel director of one of New York's leading radio stations, WINS. Now she is with RKO Radio, her first role being in the musical "Higher and Higher."

The November list of books for the High School Book League is as follows: "One World," "House Of a Thousand Candles," by Nicholson; "I Wanted To Be An Actress," by Catherine Cornell; "Illiterate Digest," by Will Rogers; and "Madagascar," by Jack Stackpole. Each book is 35 cents.

The campaign for increased sales of Stamps and Bonds is gaining momentum. The committee urges every pupil to do his part by the purchase every week of at least one 10 cent Stamp.

A basket of fruit and other edibles was sent Donald Philbrook by the fifth period study hall group. Donald is convalescing from a broken leg received while playing football.

Booklets for the Junior Women's Club were mimeographed by Vina Delmonico and assembled by Lois Clark, this week.

"What's N.C. mean, sister, Nothin' Cookin'?"

A SOLDIER entered a Telephone Center* at a New England camp one night to place a long distance call. The attendant placed the call with the long distance operator who, after vainly hunting for a free line, reported back to the attendant in good telephonic: "N.C."

The soldier overheard the report, and was puzzled.

"What's N. C. mean, sister?" he asked. "Nothin' cookin'?"

The attendant laughed. "N. C. in telephone language means 'no circuits,'" she said. "All lines are busy. But don't go away. I'll put your call through just as soon as a circuit is clear."

*Room with switchboard, telephone booths, and attendants who help soldiers with their calls.

Every night between 7 and 10 o'clock, thousands of boys in the Armed Services throng the telephones to place long distance calls. Surely you do not want any of them to get the 'nothin' cookin'' signal if you can possibly help it.

And you can help it, if you remember not to telephone to points outside New England unless your message is really urgent. If your call is urgent, we know you will understand if the operator should say, when you make it:

"PLEASE limit your call to 5 minutes."

Or, if she later adds,

"YOU HAVE talked over 5 minutes—can you limit your conversation now?"
